TRAINING LEADERSHIP / BANKING OPERATIONS

Lorne Hopkins

Training Manager | Learning and Operational Performance

Phoenix, AZ • 602-386-8710 • LorneH12@gmail.com

Portfolio / LinkedIn

TRAINING MANAGER

Banking Operations / Employee Readiness

Dear Hiring Team,

Your Training Manager role calls for someone who understands how onboarding, process knowledge, coaching and quality work together in a banking operation. My experience combines training management at Concentrix, customer-service and compliance training for American Express and USAA client programs, and enterprise learning at Charles Schwab and American Express. I would bring that combination to your banking-operations training team.

At Concentrix, I led training across client programs and aligned learning with operational performance and employee readiness. I connected instructional design, quality feedback and coaching to identify and address performance gaps. Earlier, at Gatestone, I delivered customer-service, process and compliance training using role-play, structured shadowing and call calibration. That background helps me connect classroom instruction with the decisions and behaviors employees need on the job.

My financial-services experience also includes designing learning for client-facing tools, onboarding, upskilling and compliance at Charles Schwab. I developed self-directed learning journeys and SharePoint learning hubs, partnered with subject-matter experts and coordinated reviews through launch. In this role, I would apply that experience to clear procedures, useful performance support and consistent learning resources for both new and experienced employees.

At American Express, my current work includes live sessions, training videos, communications and feedback analysis for enterprise technology change. The Jira migration program spans seven learner personas and an impacted population of approximately 60,000. I have delivered more than 60 Jira sessions and use surveys, session questions and transcripts to identify where employees need more support. My hands-on toolkit includes Storyline 360, Rise 360, Camtasia, SharePoint and Microsoft 365.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how I can support your training team, strengthen employee readiness and connect learning priorities to the needs of the operation. My designated portfolio brings together relevant experience, onboarding examples and interactive learning samples for your review.

Sincerely,

Lorne Hopkins